

Priorities for Danish Develop- ment Cooperation

Overview of the Development Cooperation
Budget 2014 – 2017

Green Growth benefitting all

The priorities of the Danish development cooperation for 2014-2017 reflect the already ongoing implementation of the strategy for Danish development cooperation, 'The Right to a Better Life' (2012), outlining the Government's response to central challenges in the developing countries in the coming years. The strategy's four priority areas continue to provide the framework for the development cooperation: Human rights and democracy, green growth, social progress and stability and protection.

The priorities of the Danish development cooperation for 2014-2017 especially emphasize green growth and sustainable development. Economic growth is a necessity in the fight for poverty reduction. The growth is to be sustainable and inclusive, be based on increased productivity and lead to job creation. The development assistance is to contribute both to securing more scope for the private sector and contribute to increased capacity in the public sector as regards redistribution, regulation and taxation. Central to Denmark is the focus on private investments and on small and medium-sized enterprises – also in fragile states. Simultaneously, the Government will work for increased interaction between development assistance, trade and investment, benefitting both developing countries and Danish companies.

Under the heading "New Multilateralism", Denmark is strengthening its multilateral engagement. The cooperation needs to be more efficient. This will be achieved by e.g. fewer and larger core contributions and the establishment of innovation facilities. Increased use of general budget support through development contracts is important in order to implement the developing countries' own development strategies and thus eradicate poverty. In 2014, three new development contracts will be entered into, and, in accordance with its human rights based approach, Denmark will promote the governments' own responsibility towards their citizens. There is a great focus on anti-corruption in these contracts. In addition to the above key priorities, Denmark will launch a series of important initiatives in 2014 in the areas of human rights and democracy and social progress.

The total budget for the Danish development cooperation is DKK 16,273 million in 2014, equivalent to an unchanged level of 0.83 per cent of GNI.

Priorities for Danish Development Cooperation

Green Growth – an investment in sustainable development and the fight against poverty

In order to work for sustainable green growth, Denmark will continue to promote the use of sustainable energy and natural resources through e.g. new technology. The climate activities and climate financing are key elements. They support e.g. the productivity of the poor in the agricultural sector and finance new technology. Economic growth is to be inclusive, be based on increased productivity and lead to job creation. A central theme will be improved labour rights e.g. through contributions to the International Labour Organisation (ILO).

In 2014, Denmark will launch a large number of bilateral activities in the priority countries in the areas of growth, job creation and sustainable natural resource management. This includes e.g. a programme in Bolivia with the objective of increased growth, job creation and improved food security through support to small-scale farming in the poorest areas. In Ethiopia, a new programme will be implemented to promote green growth through job creation and innovative green solutions in the agricultural sector and to promote sustainable natural resource management.

The Climate Envelope will be continued at the same high level with support activities that assist developing countries with reduction of emissions and adaptation to climate changes as preparation for them entering into and starting implementation of a global climate agreement. The Government will also allocate a Danish contribution to the next replenishment of the Global Environment Facility (GEF). The follow-up to the UN conference on sustainable development (Rio+20) will be continued with initiatives supporting Danish priority areas such as water, energy and valuation of natural resources and with concrete follow-up to the results of the negotiations on new sustainable development goals, which are to be completed in 2014.

Over half a billion DKK will be allocated to Danida Business Programmes, shared between Danida Business Finance (DKK 300 million) and Danida Business Partnerships (DKK 237 million). The focus on involving Danish companies' key competences continues, contributing to greener growth and employment in both priority countries and in Denmark. Furthermore, increased focus will be given to closer cooperation between Danida Business Finance and the Export Credit Agency (EKF).

The African Development Fund is a central regional player as regards the new African growth economies and as regards the continent's poor countries and fragile states. A Danish three-year contribution for the replenishment of the Fund is planned. The African Development Bank has recently adopted a ten-year strategy focussing on inclusive and green growth, fragile states, gender equality and governance.

Selected focus areas within Green Growth

Bilateral activities in Denmark's priority countries:	DKK 1.5 billion
Contribution to The Global Environment Facility (GEF):	DKK 400 million
Climate Envelope:	DKK 500 million ¹
Follow-up of the Rio+20 conference:	DKK 90 million
Danida Business Programmes:	DKK 542 million
Contribution to the African Development Fund:	DKK 630 million
Contribution to ILO:	DKK 40 million

1 Including administration cost of DKK 25 million.

Stability and protection – an investment in peace, security and poverty eradication

Fragile and conflict-affected countries face formidable challenges. Without security, law and order – no development. And without economic prosperity and youth employment - no peace and stability. Denmark should assist in breaking the vicious circle. This is crucial in order for the fragile and conflict affected countries to reach the Millennium Development Goals and fight the high level of poverty in these countries. The contribution is also an investment in regional stability, peace and security, fewer refugees and the fight against cross-border crime and terrorism. Therefore, Denmark will maintain its massive engagement in fragile and conflict-affected states.

The launching of a range of new bilateral activities in fragile states is planned during 2014, for example in Mali where a good governance programme will be initiated with a budget of DKK 125 million. In the light of the country's continuing fragile situation after the military coup last year, the programme's objective will be to promote stability and security with a focus on continued democratic development, conflict prevention and social cohesion. The assistance to Palestine will be increased from 2014 and the next few years, which means that the yearly average disbursement level will gradually reach DKK 250 million. The raise of the development assistance level will be an important Danish contribution to Palestinian state building at a time when Palestine is facing a politically and economically difficult situation.

The strengthening of the Government's Peace and Stabilisation Fund will be continued in 2014. The funds will, i.a., be spent on assisting the transition process in Afghanistan, utilising the new momentum in Somalia, contributing to the international response to the crisis in Mali and the preventive work in the Sahel area.

The core funding to the UN World Food Programme (WFP) will be increased by DKK 25 million. The context for the increased Danish contribution is WFP's increasing challenges in i.a. long-term humanitarian crises in fragile states and in relation to the development and strengthening of the global humanitarian assistance. In addition, there is a high degree of consistence between the work of WFP and the Danish humanitarian priorities. The contribution to WFP is part of the total budget for humanitarian assistance at more than DKK 1.5 billion.

Selected focus areas within Stability and Protection

Bilateral activities in Denmark's priority countries:	DKK 900 million
Peace and Stabilisation Fund:	DKK 90 million
Core funding to UN Development Programme (UNDP):	DKK 330 million
Core funding to UN's World Food Programme (WFP):	DKK 210 million
Humanitarian funds:	DKK 1,525 million

New Multilateralism – an investment in solutions to global challenges, global influence and eradication of poverty

The strengthening of Denmark's multilateral engagement is a clear priority in the strategy for Denmark's development cooperation. In 2014, this strengthening of the multilateral area will continue.

In order to enhance the effectiveness of multilateral cooperation, Denmark will to a greater degree focus on allocating larger core contributions to fewer organisations. In 2014, the core contributions to a number of organisations will be increased by a total of DKK 123 million; e.g. an additional DKK 30 million will be allocated to the Global Partnership for Education as part of the follow-up to Denmark's participation in the 'Education First-initiative'.

In order to improve effectiveness, innovation facilities will be established in a number of multilateral organisations. These will provide better opportunities to test innovative projects within selected areas and will give Denmark a strong profile and increased influence on the development in the organisations. Moreover, the dialogue with the organisations will be strengthened and hence the opportunity to promote Danish views through enhanced funding for multilateral advisers.

In 2014 and 2015, DKK 25 million will be allocated with the intention of attracting additional organisations to the UN City in Copenhagen. It is a distinct advantage for Denmark that organisations are located in Denmark contributing to the strengthening of cooperation between Denmark and the United Nations in a number of areas.

Selected focus areas within New Multilateralism

Increased core contributions to a number of organisations:	DKK 123 million
UN City: with the aim of attracting additional organisations to the UN City in Copenhagen:	DKK 25 million
Multilateral advisers:	DKK 82 million
Establishment of innovation facilities: Allocated as follows:	DKK 40 million
	DKK 15 million to the UN Development Programme (UNDP), DKK 3 million to the UN Entity for Gender Equality (UN Women), DKK 10 million to the UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) and DKK 12 million to the UN Population Fund (UNFPA)

Development Contracts and Budget Support – an investment in more responsible and effective states

Increased use of general budget support is an important contribution to the implementation of developing countries' own development strategies and thereby the eradication of poverty. Support to the state's provision of basic services such as education, health, clean water and the creation of social safety nets is of key importance. With the use of budget support, Denmark will be able to influence the priorities of the entire state budget and can push for the implementation of comprehensive reforms, not least anti-corruption efforts. In the future, the general budget support will be entered into in the form of a development contract based on clear criteria shared with the EU. In accordance with the human rights-based approach, Denmark will help promote the governments' own accountability towards their citizens through the use of development contracts. All Danish funds are subject to control mechanisms, and findings from audit reports and other monitoring tools are closely followed. Any remarks will be followed by critical dialogue and concrete action plans, whose implementation will be monitored. In cases of corruption, all or parts of the budget support can be withheld or reduced. A development contract will often be accompanied by support to strengthened monitoring mechanisms such as the ombudsman, the national audit office, justice institutions as well as a free and independent press and civil society organisations.

Both the results of the monitoring work such as the audit reports and the achievement of the agreed results included in the contract will have implications for the disbursements.

New development contracts

Tanzania, Mozambique
and Ghana:

Approx. DKK 1.5 billion

In addition to the above-mentioned priorities, a number of important activities will also be initiated in 2014 within the areas of human rights and democracy and social progress.

Human Rights and Democracy

Democracy and human rights are fundamental elements in Danish development cooperation. By supporting free and democratic elections, building societies based on the rule of law, combating corruption in public services, supporting free media and a powerful civil society, Denmark contributes to providing the population with democratic tools that enable them to stand up for their rights and participate actively in society. Denmark will launch a series of bilateral activities in its priority countries and regional initiatives such as the Danish-Arab Partnership Programme and will devote significant resources to international organisations that work to promote human rights, including gender equality. The contribution to Danish civil society organisations will also increase.

Social Progress

Denmark will place issues of distribution and rights in the social areas high on the agenda both in multilateral fora and in developing countries. In fragile states, Denmark is contributing to the building of national institutions, in order for these to deliver basic services to their citizens. Multilateral organisations play a key role in their commitment to health and especially HIV/AIDS, education and the fight for women's and girls' rights – including the right to sexual and reproductive health.

Selected focus areas within human rights and democracy

Bilateral activities in Denmark's priority countries:	DKK 995 million
The Danish-Arab Partnership Programme:	DKK 275 million
Core contributions to the UN Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN Women):	DKK 60 million
IWGIA support to indigenous populations:	DKK 47 million
Support for Danish civil society organisations:	DKK 1,083 million

Selected focus areas within social progress

Bilateral efforts in Denmark's priority countries:	DKK 146 million
Contribution to Global Partnership for Education (GPE):	DKK 300 million
Core contributions to the UN Population Fund (UNFPA):	DKK 230 million
Core contributions to the UN Children's Fund (UNICEF):	DKK 180 million
Core contributions to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria:	DKK 165 million
Core contribution to UNAIDS:	DKK 90 million

Priorities for Danish Development Cooperation

Overview of the Development Cooperation Budget 2014–2017

The Danish Government hereby presents its priorities for the Danish development cooperation for the years 2014-2017. With this prioritisation of the development cooperation budget, the new strategy for Denmark's development cooperation, The Right to a Better Life (2012), is further implemented.

The overarching goal for Denmark's development cooperation is to fight poverty with human rights and economic growth. Four strategic priority areas will be given special attention: Human rights and democracy, green growth, social progress and stability and protection.

The priorities for development cooperation in 2014-2017 emphasise green growth and sustainable development.

Economic growth is necessary in the fight against poverty. However, the growth should be sustainable and inclusive, be based on increased productivity and lead to job creation. At the same time, the Government will work for increased synergies between development cooperation and trade and investments for the benefit of both developing countries and Danish companies. Moreover, Denmark will strengthen its multilateral activities, continue its high level of engagement in fragile states and enter into development contracts with e.g. a focus on the fight against corruption.
